

Daily Programme.

From the Navigator.

Overnight, Queen Elizabeth passed south of the Greek peninsula of Peloponnisos, through the Strait of Andikithron and into the Aegean Sea. In the early morning, she transited eastwards across the northern coastline of Nisos Kriti (Crete), towards the port of Heraklion, where we picked up our pilot who assisted the Captain and her Bridge Team to bring the vessel alongside the berth.

Heraklion, Greece
Arrival Time: 8.00am
All Aboard Time: 5.30pm

Heraklion is close to the ruins of the palace of Knossos, which in Minoan times was the largest centre of population on Crete. Though there is no archaeological evidence of it, Knossos may well have had a port at the site of Heraklion as long ago as 2000 BC. The present city of Heraklion was founded in 824 by the Saracens who had taken over the island from the Eastern Roman Empire. They built a moat around the city for protection, and named the city Rabd-al-handaq ("Castle of the Moat"). In 1204, the city was bought by the Republic of Venice for the Crusaders of the Fourth Crusade restoring the deposed Eastern Roman Emperor Isaac II Angelus to his throne. In 1898, the Cretan State was created, under Ottoman suzerainty, with Prince George of Greece as its High Commissioner. At this time, the city was renamed 'Heraklion', after the Roman port of Heracleum ('Heracles' city'), whose exact location is unknown. In 1913, with the rest of Crete Heraklion was incorporated into the Kingdom of Greece.

Today's activities.

Officer Profile Hotel General Manager: David Shepherd

David Shepherd was born in Leicester and grew up on his parent's farm in Warwickshire. You may wonder how did a farmer's son living in the middle of England as far from the sea as possible go to work on board ships! It all started after a family holiday to the Norfolk Broads – the fascination of boats and water! After completing his GCSEs, he undertook a BTEC National Diploma in Hospitality Management at North Warwickshire College followed by an HND in Hospitality Management at Leeds Metropolitan University which also took him out to Orlando, Florida working for six months in a leading hotel. Despite not travelling much in his younger years, he joined P&O's Oriana in 1995 as a Junior Assistant Purser on the Purser's Desk and began to travel the world. David has served on many P&O Cruises ships and met his wife Jade on board P&O Cruises Oriana. David and Jade now live in the Cotswolds with their Son, Harry. Whilst on leave David enjoys helping out on the family farm and being out in the countryside, gardening, cooking as well as helping out with his family's equine and pet cremation business. With a love for the outdoors, David completed Alfred Wainwright's famous Coast to Coast walk in 14 days across the Lake District and Yorkshire Dales and Moors. David was appointed as Hotel Manager to Cunard in August 2012 with Queen Mary 2 being his first Cunard ship and becoming a part of the greatest and most famous shipping line in the world joining the Cunard family and traditions. As Hotel Manager David is responsible for the entire Hotel team on board of whom he is very proud of and works with them to ensure that our guests on board have a unique and memorable experience. After more than 20 years at sea, David works on the philosophy of expecting the unexpected and believing the unbelievable. You just never know what the next day is going to bring – which is part of the excitement and adrenaline rush he gets from working at sea.
