At sea en route to New York.

From the Navigator.

During the early hours of this morning, Queen Mary 2 continued on her Great Circle track towards the Grand Banks of Newfoundland. Our track today will take us over some of the deepest sections of the Atlantic itself with soundings in this area of more than 4500 metres or 2.5 miles. Queen Mary 2 will also pass the Flemish Cap later on this evening, a shallow of about 102 metres in the otherwise 3,500 metre deep ocean floor.

Tonight's Entertainment.

Apassionata.

Featuring the Royal Court Theatre Company.

An extravaganza of exciting styles of dance from around the world. From Fred & Ginger's Quickstep to the upbeat Jumpin' Jive, this show features some of the most incredible dances ever seen at sea.

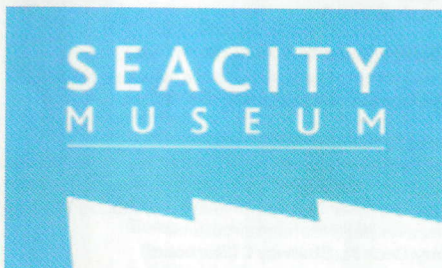

With the Royal Court Theatre Orchestra, under the musical direction of Jeff Hughes. Presented by your Entertainment Director, Catherine Kennedy.

At 8.45pm & 10.30pm,

👉 Royal Court Theatre, Decks 2 & 3, Stairway B

Cunard and Southampton Centenary Celebration.

Cunard's move to Southampton was a definite boon for the region, bringing with it increased commerce and trade thanks to Cunard's mails and cargo service.

It was also a boon for passengers – with simple connections between Southampton and London allowing for quick transfers for business travellers and tourists alike.

Southampton's proximity to the continent meant calls in French ports were easier – allowing the line to collect European immigrants eager to start a new life in America.

By the 1950s Cunard's superliners – Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth – were the largest vessels in the world. Based in Southampton the two Queens established the first two-ship weekly transatlantic express service linking Britain and North America in a way never before conceived.

Chris Frame.

'Southampton's Monarch: The QE2'.

Take a step back in time and enjoy a nostalgic journey aboard the one and only QE2 - Southampton's Queen! From the conception of "Number 736" to QE2's retirement in 2008; this lecture showcases the life and times of the longest serving transatlantic express liner in history – and the first Queen to carry the name Southampton around the world. We look at QE2's launch by HM. Queen Elizabeth II over fifty years ago and the ship's service in the Falklands War - commencing and culminating in Southampton. We explore her re-engining in the 1980s and rebirth in the 1990s. QE2 carried 2.5 million people and steamed 5.6 million miles; more than any ship – ever!

At 11.00am,

👉 Illuminations, Deck 3, Stairway B

John Stoddart.

'London Fashion. Working with John Galliano and Vivienne Westwood'.

The world of fashion in London from 1985, Stoddart moves into fashion photography, incredibly different from his days in Liverpool. By chance, he meets two very different people, two people who go on to change not just fashion in the U.K., but around the world, John Galliano and Vivienne Westwood.

At 12.15pm,

👉 Illuminations, Deck 3, Stairway B

Michael Kushner.

'Danger! U-boats and the battle of the Atlantic'.

The biggest threat to the Allies during World War II came from the German U-boats. Winston Churchill said it was the only thing he was frightened of during the war. U-boats controlled the North Atlantic and sent millions of tons of our merchant shipping to the bottom. It was the work of Bletchley Park to intercept their radio signals which were enciphered into what the Germans believed was an unbreakable code. Michael Kushner will be signing books after his lecture outside the Illuminations on Deck 3, Port Side.

At 4.00pm, 👉 Illuminations, Deck 3, Stairway B

A Night at the Ballroom.
