Port Highlights

In the early hours of this morning, Queen Victoria sailed on a series of easterly headings towards Cádiz, picking up her local harbour pilot at 6.45am. The pilot assists the bridge team with the arrival manoeuvre by providing their local knowledge and experience of the area to assist the ship and arrive safely. This evening, at around 5.00pm Queen Victoria will depart for Mykonos, and once out in open waters, she will set a series of south-easterly courses on route to transit the busy Gibraltar Straits.

At one time, Cádiz was known as the most important port in Spain. Located in the southwestern corner of the Iberian Peninsula, between the Mediterranean Sea and the Atlantic Sea, Cádiz became part of an international trade route that linked Europe, America, and Africa. During the 17th and 18th centuries, its commercial and geographical conditions allowed for the increasing value of commercial exchanges and shipping tonnage. Cádiz was also the only legal centre allowed to administer the Spanish monopoly of trade with America.

At 10.00am, the alarms will be sounded and broadcasts made as the crew are exercised in their emergency duties. During this exercise, limited guest services will be provided. You are advised that part of the exercise involves checking guest staterooms to ensure that they have been evacuated. If you prefer not to be disturbed, please display the "Privacy Please" notice prior to the start of the drill. For the duration of the crew drill, we kindly request that guests please keep clear of the outside area of the boat deck.
