Port Highlights

There is so much to see and do in Madeira. Meander through the sweeping Madeira Botanical Gardens, a 20-acre paradise draped in all manner of perfectly manicured tropical flowers, plants, and trees. The Jardim Botânico da Madeira is home to over 2,500 exotic plants, and views from the gardens across the city and the deep blue of the Atlantic Ocean beyond are spectacular. At the heart of Funchal lies a Gothic masterpiece, the Funchal Cathedral, dating back to 1490. History lovers may wish to pay a visit to the Church of Our Lady of Monte. Built on the foundations of a fifteenth-century chapel, the church is the final resting place of Charles I of Habsburg, the last Emperor of Austria. The church is accessible via the famous Madeira cable car, which transports tourists from the lower section of Funchal to the charming suburb of Monte. Guests looking to stretch their legs and dust off their hiking boots can tackle Pico Ruivo, the tallest peak on Madeira. While the trail up to the top can be strenuous, the sweeping panoramic views are more than worth the effort. Take a dip in the natural pools of Porto Moniz, the water of which is fabled to have restorative powers, located on the northwest of the island. Madeira is truly a wine lover's paradise, with a multitude of locally produced tipples to choose from. For those who would like to sample the best wines the region has to offer, you could opt for a tour of one of the vineyards, complete with a tasting session where you will have the chance to try Madeira's famously dry wines. Another experience could be to treat yourself to a decadent afternoon tea at Reid's Palace.
